

CONTEMPLATIVE SOCIAL RESEARCH

Caring for Self, Being and Lifeworld

Edited by Valerie M. Bentz, PhD
and Vincenzo Giorgino, PhD

CONTEMPLATIVE SOCIAL RESEARCH

A new publication from Fielding University Press edited by Valerie Bentz and Vincenzo Giorgino

Contemplative Social Research brings together a range of current ideas and theories by top international scholars. These authors question existing theories of self, mind, culture and society, and instead focus on emerging new forms of Being. Contemplative inquiry moves disciplines toward recognition of the deep oneness of humanity and interdependence with other living beings. With a foreword by Rick Moody and Sander Tideman, this volume moves the social and human sciences forward to a deeper level, blurring boundaries between disciplines and cultures in search of the true nature of being(s).

- The Social and Political Significance of Contemplation and its Potential for Shaping Contemplative Studies
Zachary David Walsh, School of Theology, Claremont School of Theology
- Knowing as Being: Somatic Phenomenology as Contemplative Practice
Valerie Malhotra Bentz Ph.D., School of Leadership, Fielding Graduate University
- Critical Reason and Spirituality
Doug Porpora, Ph.D. Department of Anthropology, Drexel University
- Inside-Out: Mindfulness-based Interventions as a Model for Community Building
Donald McCown, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Health, West Chester University of Pennsylvania
- Contemplative Science, and the Contemplative Foundation of Science: A Proposal of Definitions, Branches and Tools
Xabier Reneria-Uriarte, Ph.D., University of Basque Country
- Social Sciences and Contemplative Knowledge: an Enactive Model at Work
Vincenzo Giorgino, Ph.D., Department of Economics and Social Sciences, University of Turin, Italy
- Meditation as Epistemology. How can Social Scientists profit from meditation?
Krzysztof Koniński, Ph.D. Department of Sociology, University of Lodz, Poland
- Contemplative Psychology and Imagery
Annabelle Nelson, Ph.D., School of Leadership, Fielding Graduate University
- Retracing the Labyrinth: Applying Phenomenology for Embodied Interpretation
LuAnn Fortune, Ph.D., Program in Mindbody Medicine, Saybrook University
- Towards Embodied Digital Technologies
David Casacuberta, Ph.D., Universidad Autonoma de Barcelona
- Designing for Consciousness: A Neurophenomenological Research Agenda
E. Christopher Mare, Village Design Institute

FIELDING UNIVERSITY PRESS

2020 De La Vina Street, Santa Barbara, CA, 93105-3538
www.fielding.edu